

Seasonal Transition

There are no green shades in the forest glades, as April slowly passes It's a time of year when we welcome dear, the foliage and grasses Look at the lake, give your head a shake, that ice is clinging fast.
It's two feet thick and will take God's trick to melt if winter's past

This Climate Change makes you feel deranged as we seem to get more chill The warming earth's in full reverse and winter has stood still But the more we age, we get more sage and any day is fun When through frosted panes you thank your brain that you're here for another run

On a day of pain, we tried to gain some traction on the trail The drive to a place of remedy was blocked by the snow and hail Our aching spines stand well behind the weather and its vice So we stay in house like a frightened mouse and apply big packs of ice

So stoke that fire, wear warm attire, that you'd wear more oft in snow The fire is burning and we are yearning for a taste of April's glow Where the trees turn green and the water's sheen can inspire us to cheer
But as it is, we'll take the fizz, of a hearty Lager beer.

For whence comes May and the warmer days, we'll forget the frost and rain Galoshes go, no more ice and snow only sun and heat we gain We'll wear old T-tops and our great flip-flops as we stroll across the beach It's one sure thing, that the months will bring a true summer to our reach.

Bet on it!
