Public Health Cut by 27%

Severe funding cuts announced in the April 11 Ontario Budget will put public health at risk and only drive up costs to the healthcare system. This cut goes far beyond any cost-savings from back office efficiencies, or even the elimination of 25 local Medical Officer of Health positions. It will entail cutting into the meat and bone of public health services and may cause huge, disruptive changes that put lives at risk.

Investing in upstream health protection and promotion should be seen as an essential component of reducing hallway medicine. Public Health provides preventive measures which yield significant downstream healthcare savings.

A public health care cut is simply a short sighted, pay much more later approach to healthcare funding.
